Americans making our first trip to Provence, we knew we should bring along a map with sufficient detail to guide us through the quaint hillside towns of this incredible region of France. We were never disappointed in our Michelin map - it allowed us to drive from town to town effortlessly, even on very remote (and narrow!) country roads. We used the map in conjunction with our France Green Guide, so we knew which towns we didn't want to miss. With a little planning on our part, we were able to see some of the most beautiful villages - including Les Baux, Lacoste and Bonnieux - without any fear of getting lost. We highly recommend this map!

Valence, Nîmes, Gap, Monte-Carlo. These are the limits of the game. And what a game! With this very precise map, you can spend years and years exploring what most french people call "the most beautiful part of France". Michelin staff was smart enough to put together on the same handy map both "arrière-pays of Provence" and more widely known Côte-d'Azur. If you like walking from one hotel to the other one you will find this map detailed enough to provide you with the trails details. If you are just a business man in a hurry, you will pay attention to detailed access to the newest expressways. TGV (high speed) train can be tracked through Provence countryside (maybe a useful thing to do if you plan to buy a quiet hideaway in silent unknown village)... Whatever character you will be playing, you will need this Swiss Knife tool: a Michelin 1/200 000 map.

An annually updated road map of Provence and the Cote d'Azur, covering the main and secondary road networks across the region. Scale: 1/200,000 - 1cm=2km Legend/Key in four languages (French, English, Italian, German)
