Joanna M Gibson, Oaky : Oaky's Grand Tour: How A Dog Cycled From Brighton to Edinburgh before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Oaky's Grand Tour: How A Dog Cycled From Brighton to Edinburgh:

They say every dog has a book in him, well, - this is mine. As a lurcher x collie I am intelligent, noble and wise. So when my owners decided to tether me to a bicycle and run me across the British Isles, I deemed the plan preposterous. But as a responsible hound, I felt it my duty to guard and guide my hapless humans come what may... Despite injury, insult, disease and disaster, I did my best (under trying circumstances to herd my bickering bicyclists safely to journeys end. This friends - is my memoir...

About the Author Oaky is a mature lurcher x collie who was born on the windswept wastes of Dartmoor in Devon. He is an inveterate litter collector and has a huge social conscience. He is known to report cats for bringing in half-dead mice and will absolutely NOT step on a flowerbed. He is inordinately fond of his human staff and insists on accompanying them on their travels. To this end he has learnt to use a bicycle and consents to camp - reluctantly. He decided that he really ought to put paw to paper, if only to pass on his varied travelling experiences to future canine cyclists. He is now retired and lives in a beautiful Devon valley where he enjoys bracing strolls to the ford and back with gravy bones on his return.
