By Christine Johnson
Very brief, barely any information beyond what you could find in the most basic article about London. If you've planned any of your trip at all, you probably already know most of the sights mentioned here and there are no particularly insightful tips on the ones they do mention. One star for the information on public transportation.

About FlyingKids
We are a group of parents who have enjoyed traveling all over the world with their kids for many years. Each one of us have gained a lot of experience and developed unique methods and ideas to deal with kids during travel. Some of us created a variety of materials to educate and entertain kids during trips, and some of us planned and adjusted family-friendly routes to many destinations around the world. A few years ago, we started to share our experience with more parents everywhere. We have gathered many great materials, solutions, and ideas, so we decided to share it with other parents that love to travel with kids and are looking for vacations that are more meaningful and, of course, much more fun to all family members. This is why FlyingKids was born! We can't make hotel reservations for you, but we can definitely help making your next travel more fun, educated, smooth and meaningful, so you will have lots of great family memories for long years. If you too have tips, ideas, materials and stories to share - join us on our new FlyingKids website; enjoy from our experience and share with us yours at www.theflyingkids.com
