James M. Anderson, M. Sheridan Lea : Portugal, 1001 Sights: An Archaeological and Historical Guide before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Portugal, 1001 Sights: An Archaeological and Historical Guide:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Overview of Archaeological sites in Portugal. By Devin Trussell This book gives a brief but comprehensive overview of archaeological sites in Portugal giving an accurate description where each is located. Megalithic and Roman structures are particularly well covered. There are numerous photos. If you are travelling to Portugal and are interested in seeing archaeological sites I strongly recommend this book. There is an equally good book by the same authors which covers the same material in France.<sup>3</sup> of 4 people found the following review helpful. A portuguese view

As an interested portuguese, I must say that I learned a lot, that I got curious, that I followed directions that worked. I should also say that sometimes the authors incur in minor misspellings. However, this is a book I would promptly advise to anyone seeking for the old european flair. Very well done!

Portugal, 1001 Sights: An Archaeological and Historical Guide is for the traveller/reader who wants to learn more about Portugal in its historical context. Use it as a field manual to see all you can of the ancient heritage and as a handy reference if you cannot visit the sites but wish to know more of what Portugal has to offer than can be found in other travel books. This unique archaeological and historical guidebook introduces the reader and the traveller to the foundations of the modern state from the earliest period down to mediaeval times and includes maps and photographs. Historical sites are identified, described and located in relation to their historical period and guides are provided to their in situ remains. Travel with the authors to visit Paleolithic rupestrian paintings, ancient Neolithic, Chalcolithic and Bronze Age fortified villages, tombs (dolmens, tholos, cists), Celtic (Iron Age) settlements or castros, Roman towns, villas and necropoli, Paleo-Christian churches and cemeteries, and Moslem castles.
