The Poles use to say, "A good painter wouldn't need loud titles for his canvas; a bad painter must..." Just like a good painting, Poznan shows itself in such a winsome and picturesque stance that no eloquence is needed for lifting its image. Join your exotic tourmate, Pax - the red panda, for a short tour of Poznan. Get to know closely the impeccable Polish culinary culture, try mead, nalewki or kvass, take a brewery tour to the "beer-hotels," spend a laxing afternoon in the odd ice-cream galleries; take a promenade at the daunting Neo-Romanesque and Baroque architecture of the Old Town Square; visit the rich Catholic cathedrals and museums with rare collections of Monet, Moller, Matejko, Pankiewicz, Boklin, or Botticelli; cheer-up at the KontenerART and national festivals; calm down in the lake cruise, or take a PolRail to the Polish countryside, and most importantly, meet the absolutely gorgeous and perpetually elegant Polish women. An A-to-Z guarantee of useful information, this 97-page tourguide uncovers all you need to know about a city stemmed of a great civilization, the Welikopolskie.
